A first impression

For sale is a detached house in a rural setting, originally built in 1920 and extensively renovated from 2010 onwards. This property offers a harmonious blend of historic charm and modern functionality. The house has been carefully modernized in terms of windows, roof, heating, flooring, and electrical installations to ensure contemporary living comfort. A particular advantage is the solar-assisted heating system, which, together with the new biological wastewater treatment plant installed in 2015, provides environmentally friendly and cost-effective solutions. The property currently offers approximately 85 m² of living space on the ground floor. Here, you can create an open-plan living and dining area to establish a welcoming atmosphere. The attic is suitable for conversion and offers additional space for your individual design ideas. Whether as further living space, an office, or a hobby area – the possibilities are numerous. The generous plot of land, with an area of approximately 1,887 m², offers ample space for outdoor relaxation and creative garden design. A well system on the property facilitates irrigation and allows for more flexible garden design. In addition to the living space, there are extensive outbuildings offering a variety of uses: former stables with approximately 146 m² and a solid barn with approximately 135 m² are available. These can be used for various purposes, whether as storage space, a workshop, or for animal-loving new owners. The property is connected to the fiber optic network, enabling fast internet and reliable communication – a significant advantage for working professionals and families. A central heating system ensures a comfortable indoor climate. Some of the original floorboards remain, lending the house a special charm and emphasizing its character. The house can be handed over immediately after purchase, allowing for a quick move-in and the start of a new chapter in life. In summary, this detached house offers an attractive opportunity for buyers who want to combine modern living comfort with the flair of a traditional building. The rural location provides a peaceful environment, while the spacious outbuildings and large plot offer ample room for individual use and development.
