A first impression

Welcome to this modernized detached house, built in 1988 on a spacious plot of approximately 644 m². The living space of approximately 131 m² is spread over two floors and offers a total of four rooms, including three bedrooms, a bathroom, and a guest WC (renovated in 2025) on the ground floor. The house is built in the popular East German style of the EW 65 B type – a design known for its clean lines and functional layout. Upon entering the house, the spacious living room impresses with an unobstructed view of neighboring fields and the striking Czarneboh mountain range. Generous windows flood the space with light and enhance the feeling of openness. The separate bedrooms are located on the upper floor and, together with the modernized bathroom (renovated in 2019), provide space for privacy and individuality. The electrical system was also renewed in 2019 and now meets modern standards, complemented by network cabling on the ground and upper floors as well as a high-speed fiber optic connection – ideal for home offices or multimedia applications. Numerous modernization measures were carried out in 2024 and 2025, significantly increasing living comfort and energy efficiency: The intermediate floor, the knee wall, and the entire basement ceiling were fully insulated. New insulated PVC windows and a new basement door ensure optimal insulation and low energy consumption. The radiators on the ground and upper floors were also completely replaced. The property is heated efficiently and in an environmentally friendly manner by a modern heat pump, which was installed in 2024. The property offers further amenities: A double carport is available for vehicles, and there is also an underground garage in the fully basemented house, which is easily accessible from the driveway. The covered terrace invites you to relax outdoors and can be used even in changeable weather. Wastewater disposal is handled by a modern biological septic tank. A particular highlight is the location: the lack of direct neighbors ensures a high degree of privacy. This detached house is ideal for those who value modern technology, spacious living areas, and a natural setting. We invite you to arrange a viewing appointment and experience the advantages of this property firsthand.
