A first impression

Just a few minutes' walk from the Ederle Barracks, we offer for rent a bright and well-organized apartment, ideal for American singles or couples who want a comfortable, functional and ready-to-live-in solution.

Located on the second floor of a tidy building (no elevator), the property is developed with a particularly rational distribution of space. The entrance leads directly to the large open-plan living area, where kitchen and living coexist in a large and airy space. The linear kitchen overlooks the balcony, which extends the entire length of the living area, providing a pleasant and well-exploitable outdoor outlet. The dining area and living room find space in one harmonious room, enhanced by the natural light coming in from the large openings.

Next to the living area is a separate compartment, currently organized as a home office: an extremely versatile space that can become a study, hobby room or guest room, depending on requirements.

The sleeping area is distinct and accessible via a central hallway. Here we find a spacious master bedroom with ample closet space, a second bedroom ideal as a single or additional room, and a windowed, modern and well-finished bathroom. The interior layout ensures privacy and functionality, making the apartment also suitable for those who work from home.

The property is completed by air conditioning, an essential element to ensure comfort during the summer season.

A practical and well-structured living solution, perfect for those who want to reach the base on foot and live in a quiet context, with balanced spaces and excellent internal organization.
