A first impression

This penthouse apartment, built in 2004, offers approximately 94 m² of living space, a well-designed layout, and high-quality finishes. It has been rented since its completion, and the tenants wish to remain – an attractive feature for investors. The welcoming entrance area provides ample space for a wardrobe and leads into the living and dining area. Large windows flood the space with natural light, creating a bright and inviting atmosphere. The adjacent southwest-facing balcony, approximately 3.53 m², extends along the living area and offers pleasant views of the surrounding greenery. The apartment features three bright rooms. The master bedroom is generously sized, while the second room is ideal as a children's room, guest room, or home office. The bathroom features a bathtub and a separate guest toilet. The separate kitchen offers plenty of space for cooking and food preparation. Practical details such as a separate cellar storage unit and an elevator in the building contribute to the apartment's comfort. Two underground parking spaces, currently rented, are also included. The condominium owners' association previously consisted of two owners and was self-managed. Currently, there is no property manager, but the search is underway. No condominium owners' association statements have been prepared, and no reserve fund has been established, as costs were shared directly among the owners. One unit has already been sold, so there are now three different parties in the condominium owners' association. This penthouse apartment combines well-maintained features, a well-designed layout, and reliable rental income. It is ideal for investors who value long-term stability and established tenancy relationships.
