All about the location

Mijas, one of the "White Villages of Andalusia", is a municipality on the Costa del Sol that retains the charm of the traditional Andalusian village with its white houses full of flowers. The location, situated on a mountain 430 metres above sea level, offers its visitors breathtaking views of the Sierra de Mijas, and a spectacular panoramic view of the Mediterranean coast. The Sierra de Mijas, one of the best places for hiking in Andalusia. In fact, it offers interesting walking and cycling routes, especially in winter. Mijas also remains active during the summer, giving you the possibility to practice water sports in the coastal areas close to the village. Mijas can be reached by public transport from different parts of the province, particularly the western Costa del Sol. The nearest train station is located in Fuengirola, which is connected to several municipalities, passing through the most popular ones, such as Malaga city, Torremolinos and Benalmadena. Renfe offers continuous services, every day and with a frequency of approximately 20 minutes. From Fuengirola, you can reach Mijas village with the bus service. The bus station is just a few metres from the Fuengirola train station. The bus leaves from here and makes several stops along the way, ending in the historic centre of Mijas Pueblo. Alternatively, you can use the car to get to Mijas Pueblo. The A7 connects Mijas with Malaga and its airport, from where you can reach almost anywhere in Andalusia.
