A first impression

In one of Budapest's most prestigious green residential areas, at the gateway to Zugliget, this recently re-imagined villa ensemble of outstanding literary significance is offered for sale. Its walls once housed legendary figures of Hungarian literature, including the world-renowned poet Attila József, making this property not merely a home, but a living piece of history.

Set on a southwest-facing, mature wooded plot, the estate comprises two completely independent yet architecturally harmonious buildings. The villas seamlessly combine the refined bourgeois elegance of the early 1900s with contemporary, sustainable solutions.

The 180 sqm main residence features a representative entrance hall, an impressive living room, a private study, and three spacious bedrooms, each with its own en-suite bathroom. Generous terraces, a large entrance veranda, and an authentic wine cellar further enhance the property. The 85 sqm attic level can be converted upon demand, offering significant potential to expand the living space.

The 51 sqm, two-storey guesthouse includes its own private garden area and covered terraces. It is ideal as a guest residence, accommodation for an older child or parent, a private office, or for premium rental purposes.

Following the 2019 reconstruction, the property received an A++ energy rating. The home is equipped with a 15 kW solar panel system, thermally insulated walls, and custom-made pinewood windows with excellent thermal and acoustic insulation. Comfort is ensured by underfloor heating and individually controlled inverter air-conditioning units in every room, while atmosphere is provided by a period, fully restored majolica tile stove. Bespoke carpentry throughout the house, including built-in wardrobes in the bedrooms and kitchen, further elevates the sense of exclusivity. Security is guaranteed by a 24-hour monitored camera system, alarm, and video intercom.

The villa is surrounded by a romantic, meticulously maintained park with mature trees and an automatic irrigation system. The property also offers convenient on-site parking for 4-5 cars, as well as a 20 sqm garden storage building.

Nature is truly part of everyday life here: the Zugliget Chairlift and nearby forest hiking trails are just a five-minute walk away. Thanks to the proximity of international schools, fine dining restaurants, and medical facilities, the property is an ideal choice for families and for those who value an active lifestyle. Public transportation is excellent, with a bus stop only two minutes away, while the city center is easily and quickly accessible.
