A first impression

Located in the heart of Algaida, one of Mallorca's most authentic villages, this high-quality, renovated village residence combines traditional character with contemporary living comfort. As part of a comprehensive renovation, the original architectural elements were preserved and complemented by modern building systems and high-quality materials.

The property has a built-up area of approximately 382 m² on a lot of approximately 215 m² and spans four levels. The well-thought-out floor plan, spacious living areas, and abundant natural light create a pleasant living environment.

The ground floor features a spacious living and dining area with a bioethanol fireplace, as well as an open, high-end kitchen equipped with Miele built-in appliances. This level is complemented by a garage, a shower room, and a vaulted cellar, which is suitable for use as a wine cellar or storage room, for example.

The dining area leads out to the approximately 46 m² terrace with a heated pool, garden area, and outdoor shower. A separate outbuilding with a mini-kitchen offers a variety of uses, such as a guest area, fitness room, office, studio, or recreational space.

The first floor features three spacious double bedrooms with built-in closets and a modern bathroom. In addition, there is an approximately 32 m² terrace with a covered veranda of approximately 19 m², providing additional outdoor living space.

The top floor is designed as a private master suite. It includes a spacious bedroom with a walk-in closet, an en suite bathroom with a walk-in shower and a freestanding bathtub, as well as another room that can be flexibly used as an office, library, TV room, or additional bedroom.

During the renovation, all electrical and plumbing systems were replaced. An energy-efficient air-to-water heat pump, air conditioning, and radiators ensure a high level of living comfort. High-quality double-glazed wooden windows, traditional lime plaster and Marés stone, large-format porcelain stoneware tiles, oak parquet flooring, custom-built closets, and high-end bathrooms with brushed gold-colored fixtures underscore the property's commitment to quality. A water softener is also installed.

The location offers a perfect combination of quiet village life and easy access to major destinations. Palma de Mallorca and the international airport are both about a 20-minute drive away.

A high-quality property for buyers who wish to combine the traditional character of Mallorca with modern living comfort and a central location.

All about the location

Algaida is a town steeped in tradition in the heart of Mallorca, with a population of about 6,000. The town is situated in the gently rolling countryside of the island's interior and has retained its authentic Mallorcan character to this day. Its history dates back to the Moorish period, as indicated by the town's name, which is of Arabic origin. Later, Algaida developed into an agricultural center, known for almond and fig cultivation as well as wine production. The town's landmark is the Puig de Randa, home to the famous Cura pilgrimage monastery, which offers a sweeping panoramic view over large parts of the island and is historically linked to the philosopher Ramon Llull.

Its location in the island's interior combines tranquility and nature with good accessibility. Palma is about 22 kilometers away, and Son Sant Joan International Airport is approximately 18 kilometers away and can be reached in about 20 minutes. Despite its rural setting, the town has good connections to the road network, making both the capital and the coastal regions easily accessible. International schools are primarily located in the Palma area and can be reached in about 20 to 30 minutes by car, depending on the location.

Algaida offers a high quality of life for nature lovers and those seeking peace and quiet. The surrounding hills and fields are ideal for cycling, hiking, and horseback riding, while traditional village squares, cafés, and weekly markets define the social life here. Golf courses, tennis facilities, and other sports amenities are located in the immediate vicinity toward Palma and Lluçmajor. Algaida offers authentic living in a green setting while maintaining good access to the urban infrastructure of the island's capital.
