A first impression

Magnificent hotel directly by the lake with a breathtaking view of Borghese Island. The tranquility of the place, the private parking and the excellently maintained front garden make it highly coveted by tourists. On the ground floor there is the reception, dining room, bar area, kitchen and technical service rooms, on the first and second floor the 30 rooms all equipped with toilets extend in a line while on the third floor there are 3 rooms, where there is the possibility to expand. Few rooms result without the magnificent view of the lake. The finishes are typical of the 80s, the property appears well maintained and cared for, everything is in accordance with the law.

All about the location

History notes A center of Etruscan origin, according to tradition, in Roman times it was called BENACUM and rose to become the capital of the Brescian Riviera of Lake Garda. It experienced a period of splendor between the 10th and 13th centuries, thanks to a series of privileges granted first by Otto I, then by Frederick Barbarossa and Robert of Anjou, king of Sicily. Especially thanks to Barbarossa it obtained partial autonomy, while in 1377 it lost its role as capital of the Riviera, according to the will of Beatrice della Scala, who moved the capital of the "Magnifica Patria" to Salò. Under Venetian rule it fell under the territorial ambit of the Quadra di Maderno. Its artistic heritage is particularly rich: in addition to the remains of splendid floors belonging to a villa built in the Etruscan period and the monument to the Brescian statesman Giuseppe Zanardelli, one can admire the 17th-century Palazzo Mafizzoli, the sumptuous "Serraglio" palace, and several buildings of sacred architecture. These include the sanctuary of the Madonna del Benaco, which existed as early as the 5th century, the church of Ss. Peter and Paul, built at the end of the 16th century and commissioned by S. Carlo Borromeo, the parish church of Sant'Ercolano, and the church of S. Bartolomeo. Location and climate Toscolano Maderno lies on a wide promontory enclosed between the romantic port of Toscolano and the picturesque Gulf of Maderno.
